

LOUD SPEAKER

Turn an iPod into a full-fledged stereo by docking it in Chestnut Hill Sound's George ($528; $499 in white). The five internal speakers deliver rich, pure audio, and the easy-to-operate remote mimics the iPod's controls; chillsound.com

Gotta-Get Gadgets

Power up everyone you're buying for this season—whether they're newly plugged in or fully wired

CHARGE IT!

The modern music lover's worst nightmare: going on a weekend trip and having the iPod die. Help your favorite audiophile carry a tune for more than 48 hours with the iLuv i606A ($70), a cordless battery booster. Slip any full-size iPod, fourth generation or newer, into the leather case (in four colors); i-luv.com

SIMPLE CELL

Perfect for older folks, GreatCall's Jitterbug Dial phone ($147 plus monthly fee) defines "user-friendly": Its display and buttons are oversized, the ear cup blocks outside noise, and an operator is on call 24/7; jitterbug.com

BEAM THEM UP

Movie mavens will ooh and aah over Epson's MovieMate 50 portable DVD player-projector combo ($799). Equipped with high-quality picture and sound, it projects onto a wall or screen up to 48 feet away; epson.com
